Russia Is Accused Of "War Of Nerves" In Turkey, Greece

WASHINGTON—Documentary accusations in Russian attempts to hoist the Communist flag over Greece and Turkey spurred a two-way drive in the United States Congress today to bolster the two countries' independence with American dollars, weapons and limited military missions. The United States documents accused Russia of waging a "war of nerves" against Turkey and told of a "master plan" to make Greece a Communist country and called Poland a Soviet "satellite". It also said Turkey's trouble stems from Russian demands for "special privileges" in the strategic Dardanelles, and for "strategic areas" in northwestern Turkey.

Under-Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, said today the United States does not plan to send troops to Greece and Turkey to shield those countries against the spread of Communism. "We do not foresee any need to do so and we do not intend to do so."

POLICE COMMISSION INQUIRY

VANCOUVER—The police commission inquiry into the conduct of a number of Vancouver police officers, including former police chief A. G. McNeill, and his deputy, Norman Corbett, ended on Saturday in a flurry of developments which included:

- (1)—Reading of a letter containing what was presumed to be a threat against the life of a key witness;
 - (2)—Evidence of a former detective that convictions against a house of prostitution were quashed and that the judge had told him "we have to have those people";
 - (3)—Testimony from a social worker that two members of the morality squad were "most abusive" when she reported an alleged bawdy house.
- Report on the inquiry will be submitted to Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer. A letter containing a threat was allegedly received by Harry Tisman, self-confessed gambler, who, with his brother, Louis, was author of a 41-page letter which prompted the probe.
- It said: "The way you are talking, you are going to involve more people. You are telling too much, for your own good. You had better use your head instead of your mouth or you'll be singing."

VETS WANT HOUSING PROGRAM

VANCOUVER—Members of the housing and rehabilitation committee, new veterans' branch No. 168, Canadian Legion, charged here during the week-end that veterans in Canada were "betrayed" by the government which failed to provide adequate housing. They called for a "bold program of housing construction" by Dominion government in co-operation with all "competent agencies" either public or private.

FIND AMBERGRIS VALUED AT $1,500

VANCOUVER—Nelson Pentostic and Len Watson, cruising in a 40-foot boat during the week-end looking for logs, found what they believe to be a six-pound chunk of Ambergris, valued at $1,500. Ambergris is a wax-like substance, disgorged by whales, and usually found in tropical waters. It is valued at $15 to $20 an ounce.

FIRE DAMAGES BRITISH LINER

HEPBURN-ON-TYNE, Durham, England—For more than eight hours, fire of undetermined origin swept the three upper decks of the 22,424-ton British liner, Monarch, of Bermuda, in a drydock here today. There was no immediate estimate of the loss. Five firemen were injured and many were overcome by fumes.

INDIA VICEROY TAKES OFFICE

NEW DELHI—Admiral Viscount Mountbatten was sworn in as India's last viceroy today and appealed for co-operation in finding a solution to India's problems "within the next few months". He said, "everyone must do what he can to avoid any word or action which might lead to further bitterness, or to the loss of innocent victims." Meanwhile, renewed outbreaks between old Delhi's religious communities resulted today in the imposition of week-long, thirteen hour daily curfew, pre-publication censorship of news about communal disturbance in Delhi province, and renewed patrolling of streets by police and military forces.

ENGLISH FLOODS SPREAD

LONDON—Floods spread to still more areas in northern England today and police reported a "steadily worsening condition" in York, northern industrial city of a hundred thousand persons, virtually cut in two by the swollen Great Ouse River. Floods hit at London this morning, causing a two hour breakdown in underground train operations, one of the biggest "tube" stoppages in history. Agriculture experts estimated that floods have already cost $48 million in drowned cattle and sheep. Vast acreages of winter wheat and potato crops also were destroyed in what experts called a "national calamity".

THROUGH-FREIGHT RATES BETWEEN SEATTLE-ALASKA?

SEATTLE—The Seattle Post-Intelligencer said last night it had been informed by Premier Hart that the establishment of through rates between Seattle and Alaska would be a combination of rail and truck route is being contemplated with the construction of the Hart highway which is expected to be completed by the end of this year. The newspaper said the route will cut thousands of miles off the best present land route between Seattle and Alaska. The combination rates would cover both passenger and freight service. Informed sources in Victoria said the province would only have jurisdiction over the Hart Highway and the P.G.E., as the main Alcan highway is governed by Ottawa.

GRANT SEPARATE TRIALS

HAMILTON—Separate trials for Mrs. John Dick and William Bohozuk, jointly charged in the death of infant Peter David White MacLean, were granted at the crown's insistence today by Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel, as the third trial of Mrs. Dick on a murder charge opened in the court-house here. The charge against her and Bohozuk was laid following discovery of the infant's body encased in cement in a suitcase in a closet of her home.

REPORT REBELS ROUTE LOYALISTS

BUENOS AIRES—Argentine-Paraguayans reports, unconfirmed in Asuncion, said today that Paraguayan rebels had routed the Loyalist troops at San Pedro and were driving toward the capital 95 miles to the south. Newspaper correspondents here said persons familiar with the Paraguayan terrain believed the insurgents now had an "open road towards their objective."

328-DAY-OLD STRIKE ENDS

MILWAUKEE—The longest major strike in the nation, U.A.W.-C.I.O. local 248's bitter and bloody strike at the home plant of Allis-Chalmers manufacturing company, ended without settlement today as lines of production workers filed quietly into the vast works. The company estimated the cost at $85,000,000 in lost production and wages during the 328-day-old strike. The unsettled union demands were for a twenty-five cent hourly wage increase, union shop, and a union control grievance committee.

Kelowna Man Instantly Killed When Car Crashes Into Truck

JOHN Mooney, 901 Bernard Avenue, was instantly killed about 10:45 p.m. Sunday when a car in which he was riding, crashed into the rear of a truck parked at the corner of Pendozi Street and Francis Avenue. The driver of the vehicle, E. B. Warren, received only a slight cut above the right eye.

It was the second fatal accident in Kelowna this year, Orval Orser being fatally injured when struck by a passing car about two miles further south on Pendozi Street than where last night's tragedy occurred. Coroner T. F. McWilliams stated an inquest will take place tomorrow afternoon. Police were unable to say whether a charge of manslaughter would be laid against Warren.

KELOWNA BOXLA CLUB TO ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Annual Meeting Will be Held in Board of Trade Rooms Tuesday Night

The truck, which was parked about four feet from the curb on Pendozi St. and Francis Ave., was owned by G. A. Moore, 817 Sutherland Ave. Mr. Moore told police he ran out of gas when returning to the city last night, and parked the truck while he went home to get more petrol. It was reported that no lights were distinguishable on the truck, and Warren, who was returning from Okanagan Mission, crashed into the rear of the vehicle. The impact sent the truck careening into the front yard at 2463 Pendozi.

The ambulance proceeded to the scene immediately. Mr. Mooney was dead when extracted from the wreckage. Mr. Warren was taken to hospital suffering from a gash over the right eye, but he was later released. The roof of the passenger car — a 1940 Dodge — was crumpled well back, while both truck and car were locked together tightly when a wrecking truck removed the debris from the scene. Pools of blood were noticeable over the front seat and on the running board.

Police indicated that a rigid check on speeding would be instituted on Pendozi St. The local force, which is badly understaffed, has had its work doubled during the last year or so due to the growing population. An indication of this was given over the week-end, when one constable worked continuously for 24 hours in trying to locate a hit-and-run driver.

Funeral arrangements for the late Mr. Mooney will be announced later.

WIND HITS 40 MILES AN HOUR

The high wind that struck the city on Friday night reached a velocity of about 40 miles an hour, it was estimated in some quarters. No damage was reported, although houses were seen picking up clothes the following morning that had blown off clothes lines.

Garbage Collection Charges Revised To Take In All Types of Business As Move Made to Keep City Clean

CITY garbage collection charges have been revised in order to take care of business houses that do not have a great deal of garbage, while residents who are not serviced by a lane, will not have to put refuse receptacles on city streets on the day the rubbish is picked up providing they pay 25 cents a month for this additional service. These were the two salient facts of the amendment to the city garbage collection by-law which comes up for the first three readings at the City Council meeting tonight. Recently, representatives of the Retail Merchants Bureau protested over no provision being made for small business firms who have a negligible amount of rubbish, while there have been some complaints from householders, especially elderly women or invalids, who are unable to place garbage pails on streets that are not serviced by a lane.

In an effort to make Kelowna one of the cleanest cities in the Interior, the public health committee, under the chairmanship of Alderman R. P. Walrod, has spent considerable time revamping the garbage collection service. Under the present set-up, the residential districts are now assured of a weekly garbage collection service, while garbage in the city area is collected daily to three times weekly depending upon the type of business.

After the amended by-law is given first three readings Monday night, a revised schedule along with the various charges, will be published in next week's Courier.

The service was revamped some time ago, and during the trial period of the system, Alderman Walrod said the following weaknesses have become apparent:

That while many modern cities require garbage cans to be placed on street lines on collection day, a hardship is placed on those householders occupied by only women, aged couples or invalids.

That in districts where personal and civic pride is manifest by care of boulevards, the cluttering up of such streets with garbage cans, even one day a week, is undesirable.

That contents of such cans are frequently dumped on the street.

CITY POLICE SEEK HIT-RUN AUTO DRIVER

Car Knocked Into Ditch About Midnight Saturday Near Oyama

Police here spent a busy week-end searching for an auto believed damaged and alleged to be involved in a hit and run accident on the Vernon Road, near Oyama, about midnight Saturday.

On Saturday, believed from Winfield, with five occupants in the vehicle, was knocked into the ditch. According to meagre information in the hands of the Vernon detachment of the provincial police, no one was believed injured seriously. Names of the occupants were not obtainable at press time.

Both cars involved are believed to have left Vernon after the hockey game. Scores of cars returning from the game are reported to have stopped to render assistance.

NOTHING TOO BIG!

Further proof that nothing is beyond the sphere of itchy fingers was given to police last week when the Kelowna Golf Club reported the theft of the roller used for keeping the course and greens in shape.

The roller has little monetary value, club president Jack Kennedy said, but at the moment it is needed desperately to complete work already in progress for the season's opening, set for April 4. Similar rollers are hard to obtain in shape.

The thief is believed to have used a truck to cart it away. Police are investigating.

LOCAL DRIVE FOR RED CROSS GOES OVER TOP

Total of $11,300 Collected in City and District, Campaign Chairman Reports

EXCEED QUOTA

Country Districts Continue to Make Best Showing, Says L. R. Stephens

Although returns are still coming in, the local Red Cross drive has surpassed the quota by $1,300. This was revealed by L. R. Stephens, campaign chairman, this morning, when he stated that a total of $11,300 had been collected through the drive. Joe Rich and Westbank district have not yet turned in their collections.

Mr. Stephens said the country districts continue to make the best showing with practically every district reporting substantial increases over last year's totals. Rutland and Westbank both assured Red Cross headquarters that they will exceed last year's quota.

"Heartiest congratulations on wonderful showing and most sincere thanks," was the telegram Mr. Stephens received from P. S. McKernan, president of the B.C. division, Canadian Red Cross, this morning after he was advised of the city's showing.

Complete canvass

Mr. Stephens said among the districts in the city already finished and showing increases over last year are district two, Oddfellows; district 4, Stagettes; district nine, Knismen, and district ten, Knights of Pythias.

"While a great many calls were eventually made Friday and Saturday by the canvassers in an effort to clean up their district, there still appears to be hundreds of citizens who have not been called upon and that some of them are becoming slightly impatient. The campaign officials urge the canvassers to complete their calls as quickly as possible and at the same time they appeal to any citizen who might at the end of this week have received no call from a canvasser to make their donation directly to A. H. Povah, Royal Anne Hotel, Mr. Povah is acting as treasurer for the Red Cross in this campaign," Mr. Stephens said.

LITTLE CHANCE OF HIGH WATER THIS SPRING

Water Content in Snow at McCulloch is Far Below That of Last Year

NORMAL RUN-OFF

Total of 6.4 Inches of Water Now in Snow Compared With 9.8 in 1946

The water content in the snow at McCulloch is far below that of last year, and providing there is a normal run-off, there is little possibility of property adjacent to the lake-front being flooded this year. This was indicated in the February report of the water rights branch of the B.C. department of lands and forests received this week.

The water-content in the McCulloch snow now measures 6.4 inches, compared with 9.8 inches at the same date last year, and 6.5 inches at the end of February, 1945. The ten-year average is 6.4 inches, which indicates the run-off will be a normal one. Present depth of the snow is 22.5 inches.

"Snow cover measurements as of March 1 indicate an above normal run-off for the Columbia, Kootenay and Okanagan rivers, providing normal precipitation and temperatures prevail until the run-off season," was the official comment from the water rights branch.

Run-off Satisfactory

D. K. Penfold, local engineer, pointed out that it will probably be the end of next week before all snow courses are checked up, and that a fairly accurate picture may be obtained at the end of the month. "The run-off has certainly been most satisfactory so far," he stated.

Many lakeshore residents still have bitter memories of the high water last year, that inundated property adjacent to the lake. During the past few weeks, many people residing along Mill Creek have been strengthening the banks of the stream, keeping one eye cocked on the possibility of a repetition of the high water.

"Snow courses at McCulloch and Trout Creek, measured at the end of February, show a water content of 110 per cent of normal. This is 37 per cent of the water content at the end of February, 1946. During February, the water content of the snow increased 22 per cent of the end of January measurement," the report continues.

At Trout Creek the soil appears very moist under the snow, while at McCulloch it is apparently dry, but at neither course is there frost in the ground.

NEED OF LAND DEVELOPMENT EMPHASIZED

The Bureau of Reconstruction Wants Irrigation Projects Started Immediately

HOLD CONFERENCE

Need of Expanding Primary Industry to Support Population Increase Discussed

Initiation of V.L.A. irrigation projects was urged by the advisory committee of the Bureau of Reconstruction which conferred in Kelowna last Friday, and veterans who contemplate purchasing small holdings in the district are urged to make application through the V.L.A. administration as soon as possible. Delegates from the Okanagan, Similkameen and Grand Forks regions attended the conference.

The need of expanding primary industry to provide support for the war-gained population in these three districts was fully discussed, and it was pointed out that the population of the district is increasing rapidly upon income from abnormal construction activity and accumulated reserves. Unusually large crops and favorable prices have also been an important feature. These sources of income had not necessarily stable permanent, it was stated, and the importance of new land being brought under irrigation was stressed.

Much attention was given to planning long term policies for the further development of the region. The chief aspects of investigation will deal with an analysis of the present situation in regard to population, land and the use to which they are suitable, the advantageous use of available water, the cropping of forests integrated with agricultural requirements, the development of an adequate light and power service, a whole milk supply for the region, and the reservation of suitable areas for public playgrounds.

The general purpose of the meeting was to receive the report of the executive committee on its activities since the last advisory committee meeting, to receive reports and resolutions of the community committee.

Petition Signed by 81 Residents Will Be Presented to Council Meeting Tonight—Home-owners Want To Take Advantage of Facilities Offered City Residents—Matter Will Probably Be Shelved Until Mayor Returns to City—Favor Taking Measures To Become Organized District if Request Turned down by City Council

Would Have Garbage, Water Services

A petition, recently circulated in the Woodlawn district, revealed that about 95 per cent of the people living on the border of the city limits wish to be included in the Kelowna municipality. This was revealed this morning when a petition bearing the names of 81 people living in Woodlawn expressed willingness to become part of the City of Kelowna in order to take advantage of public facilities offered city residents. Informed sources said the petition will be presented to the City Council tonight by a delegation of five people living in the rural area. The matter will probably be referred to committee or shelved until the return of Mayor W. B. Hughes-Games, who is at present in San Francisco.

Move toward being incorporated with the City of Kelowna came following several requests made last week for the extension of city water services to the Woodlawn district. The Council at that time took the stand that city services could not be extended to the rural area until Woodlawn became part of the city and shared the tax burden for city services.

Under the present set-up, majority of Woodlawn residents want to become part of the city for the following reasons:

1. Water rates to those who are serviced with city water are higher.
2. No fire protection.
3. No garbage collection service.
4. No mail service.
5. No organization formed for the future development of district.
6. No sidewalks.
7. No building restrictions.
8. No improvement plans for streets.
9. Inadequate bus service.

Wording of the petition presented to the people, reads as follows:

Text of Petition

"We, the undersigned property owners of the district known as Woodlawn, being dissatisfied in being an unorganized district, request the city to incorporate this district into the City of Kelowna. If this should fail, we are willing to cooperate in taking measures in becoming an organized district."

Leaders in the movement are George Creuzot, W. Cunningham, Mr. Myers, Bob Morris, Henry Creuzot.

It is estimated there are about 130 homes between the area west of Ethel Street and north of Guisachan Road, and that about 90 per cent of the people have been contacted. The petition was signed by 81 people.

About two years ago a similar petition was circulated in the Woodlawn district, but this was turned down by the residents of the area. Since then, however, the district has grown considerably, and many home-owners are now anxious to have public works facilities offered city residents.

Septic Tanks

It was pointed out that homes have either got "privies" or septic tanks, while homes that are not serviced with city water, rely on private wells. It was stated that there is danger of the effluent from septic tanks seeping into the water holes sunk by private individuals, a bottle of whisky.

Local Trade Board Goes on Record As Favoring Adoption of Daylight Saving Time In City And District

IN THE face of mild opposition from some of the rural members, the Kelowna Board of Trade went on record at its monthly meeting at the Royal Anne hotel Thursday as favoring daylight saving time in the city and district.

Unanimous approval was given to a second move seeking government action to make fast time mandatory. Support of the surrounding communities and other Boards of Trade will be asked in an effort to have Victoria make daylight saving province-wide.

Principal objection of the rural members of the Board is that fast time interferes with a farmer's schedules and the home life of small children. Said George Day, of Rutland: "It is almost impossible to get the kiddies to have their proper rest at night, when it is still daylight outside and no slackening in the heat of the day at the time they should be going to bed."

A. W. Gray, president of the Rutland local, B.C.F.G.A., said he believed the local would support the adoption of fast time. "Personally I am in favor of it," he said. He went on to explain that geographically this part of the province belongs to the mountain time zone, and with the adoption of daylight saving, an irregularity is being rectified.

Mr. Day expressed doubt the Rutland local would support the change. A spokesman for the East Kelowna B.C.F.G.A. local told the meeting fast time had been rejected at a recent meeting.

After M. dePuyfleur commented that cows didn't know the difference if they are milked an hour earlier, the Board voted in favor of the district going on fast time when it is introduced in other Canadian centres on April 27th.

Last year several communities stuck to their guns and refused to change to daylight time, causing considerable confusion, particularly when travelling from one place to another. C. G. RELEASE TWO INDIANS AFTER QUESTIONING

Two Indians were picked up by provincial police last week, for questioning in connection with the alleged assault and robbery of Yasukuni Sokujawa, Japanese, at Westbank, May 20, 1946.

Both were released, when the victim failed to identify them as the attacker. The Japanese is in hospital with a fractured jaw. He told police he had been attacked with a sick near his home and robbed of $80, a case of beer and a bottle of whisky.

Parking Fines

Now that honk-parking is being enforced on Bernard Avenue and offenders are being fined, some steps should be taken to make possible the payment of the fine without the necessity of appearing in police court and the imposition of "co-ts".

There is no reason why it should be necessary for a parking offender to appear before the police magistrate and there is no reason why he should be assessed $1.75 in costs as is the present practice. If, of course, the policy is to soak the offenders the limit, the present system is ideal, but if the purpose of the penalty is to encourage the observance of the hour parking law, then the costs might well be omitted. The fine of $2.50 is quite sufficient for the present.

Parking bylaw violations are not serious crimes, and they are not regarded so by the public generally. Any driver who pays $2.50 for parking more than an hour on Bernard Avenue is paying pretty dearly for the privilege without the added costs being salt in the wound.

It is common practice for parking offenders to be able to visit the police court and pay the fine directly without the inconvenience of attending police courts and without the imposition of "costs". This is what should be arranged here. Whether the arranging of this is the responsibility of the city, the magistrate or the police, we do not know, but we do suggest that the responsible party get busy and do something about it quickly.

There can be no quarrel with the $2.50 fine but the added $1.75 in costs is a little bit too much of a good thing, altogether.

Parent-Teacher Body

The move on foot to start a Parent-Teacher Association in Kelowna is a vitally important step in the right direction and should receive the enthusiastic support of all citizens interested in the education and progress of the younger generation.

The City of Kelowna needs an organization of this nature. At last the community is being aroused to a sense of its responsibility for its most precious asset, the children.

The Parent-Teacher Association provides an opportunity for the fathers, mothers and teachers to work together in the solving of problems of teaching and parenthood, and to co-operate for the good of all. With the full support of the community, this organization can serve a great need in raising the standards of education and citizenship for both young and old.

Treatment of Sex Offences

Though no apparent steps have been taken by Canadian legal authorities to deal with the futility of giving short sentences to sex criminals, thus allowing them early opportunity to repeat an assault on some hapless girl, more progressive jurisdictions have begun to act. A bill has been introduced into the New York Legislature which provides that a sex pervers be committed to an appropriate mental institution after conviction, but before sentence. The bill further provides that if and when psychiatric or medical treatment is successful, the offender be returned to court for sentence, from which would be deducted the period spent in the institution. If cure is complete, and it may often become so, the offender might be put under probation, or given suspended sentence. Should the attempted cure be unsuccessful, the offender would presumably remain in the mental institution.

This puts into practical form a policy to be considered. It is not sentimentalizing the treatment of crime, nor does it coddle the criminal. It brings into clear focus the real nature of sex perversion, and offers the maximum protection to society. Nothing is less effective than to sentence a sex offender to six months in jail, as if he had stolen a few dollars, and pretend that by serving that trivial sentence he had paid his "debt to society". Sex perversion is a form of mental illness. Those who practise it ordinarily do so without being able to control their impulses. It is not a crime which can be catalogued with theft or bootlegging.

Despite the fact that sex crime is increasing in all parts of the country, the medical profession in Canada has not been doing much to keep abreast of its most effective treatment. Mr. J. Alex. Edmondson, president of the Canadian Penal Association, has suggested that a fund be established, either under government or private auspices, to conduct active research into the causes and cure of sex perversion. Those found guilty of it, possibly after a second offence in milder forms, might be detained at the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor, pending proper treatment. In addition to this, he suggests that the Canadian Bar Association and the Canadian Medical Association form a special joint committee, to advise the Department of Justice regarding amendments to the criminal code. The proposals of the pending New York bill, and the actual accomplishments along the same line in the State of Michigan, might well form the basis of discussion.

A Tenth Province?

Decision of the Newfoundland National Convention to send a delegation to Ottawa to ascertain what "fair and equitable" basis may exist for union with this Dominion is not to be taken that the ancient British colony has at last decided to seek admission to the Canadian Confederation. The mission, which will be nothing more than exploratory in nature, was only authorized after considerable debate and by less than a unanimous vote. Also to be considered is the fact that a similar delegation is being sent to London, and it is possible that a third will visit Washington.

No doubt exists as to the reception the delegation will be accorded by the Canadian Government. Speaking in the House of Commons last session, Mr. St. Laurent said that if the Newfoundlanders sent delegates or representatives to Ottawa they will be "welcomed as cordially as we can welcome them." The Minister gave the further assurance that if the people of Newfoundland come to the conclusion that they will be happy to throw in their lot with Canada "their representations will be given most earnest and sympathetic consideration."

The Minister could hardly say more than that, particularly since this country has been careful to avoid giving the appearance of attempting to advise the people of Newfoundland at a time when they are deciding their political future. This is not to say, however, that Canadians are not interested in the possibility of the colony joining the Dominion. Since the first years of Confederation it has been a subject of lively discussion and at times actual negotiation. In 1915 an amendment to the British North America Act provided for six additional members of the Senate should the colony decide to take the step.

Because of insolvency, Newfoundland gave up its Dominion status in 1934 and its government was taken over by a British commission. The colony made little progress, however, until the outbreak of war which brought the Newfoundlanders a measure of prosperity never before experienced. It seems unlikely, however, that this prosperity can be maintained because of the island's limited and undeveloped resources.

Should Newfoundland become a part of Canada it obviously and for some time at least would be among the "have-not" provinces. It probably would mean new obligations for the Dominion. It is inconceivable, however, that if invited this country would for a moment hesitate to accept these responsibilities. Newfoundland is one of the Empire's problems and if Canada is to continue to share that partnership, she cannot be unmindful of Newfoundland's welfare.

Newfoundland would bring to Confederation assets as well as liabilities. This country built up a considerable defence establishment there during the war. It has a 99-year lease on the $20,000,000 Goose Bay air base in Labrador and commercial control of the St. John's-Toronto airport. This country has the right by agreement to establish and operate additional defence facilities in Newfoundland. Newfoundlanders import most of their goods from Canada. Under such happy circumstances this country should be only too glad to welcome Newfoundland as the tenth province in the Confederation and not be too harsh about the terms.

A "cause" is something that needs money, and you enlist in it because you believe in it, or because a friend who believes in it catches you at a weak moment, or for business reasons.

r.p.m.'s column

LIKE OTHER MILLIONS of Canadians this week I have been struggling with income tax reports. Would one could forget them! Income tax is ever-present. It is the old-man-of-the-sea riding everyman's shoulders, bidding him to go slow; be careful; don't take money if you are able to increase your real income in some other way. For the employee the income tax makes it doubtful whether it is worthwhile to work quite so hard for advancement. Longer holidays in the summer are more fun. Free evenings in the winter—time to skate, to bowl, time to sit home and read a detective story—all are good. There is no tax on them. The hand of government reaches down into the humblest home to encourage that. But the young man who works hard at the office and who studies at night so that he may earn advancement finds the stony face of the tax-gatherer glaring balefully down at his wherever he may turn; and if he does win a promotion and a larger income, he goes with his head up of his pay before it ever comes into his hand. The more successful he is, the sharper does the penalty become.

AND THEN there is the matter of tax evasion. The people of the United States must have been shocked by the statement of the Bureau of Internal Revenue that income tax evasion is costing the federal government about $3 billion a year, an amount equal to some ten percent of its entire revenue from all sources. Evasion on such a scale cannot be considered the work of a few criminals. Obviously it has become something of a concerted public resistance to income taxes. It seems to confirm the fact that in a democratic state the government simply cannot collect more taxes than the public cares to pay.

NO SUCH CONDITION of widespread fraud is known to exist in Canada. Our tax authorities have not told us that any considerable number of Canadians is managing to evade the levies. But there are reasons to think that that situation is not satisfactory. The farewell speech of Mr. Fraser Elliott, former deputy minister of national revenue for taxation, a short time ago suggested his alarm at the spreading resistance of the public to the existing income taxes. Mr. Elliott spoke as a responsible government official. I suppose I could have got out of it. But the idea interested me. If I built a dog house, I thought with brilliant logic, maybe the dog would get up and let ME sit in the Morris chair near the fire.

Material is the first requirement when one is about to build. I sped to the nearest lumber yard. "I should like a little lumber," I said to the man. He began to laugh hysterically. "You and ten thousand other guys," he said finally. I explained that it was just enough for a dog house, and he produced some old boards, turning them over to me as if they were made of velvet. An hour later saw me at work. I had a firm grip on a two-by-four and my wife was holding a nail with a look of deep apprehension. Down came the hammer. The echo of the blow rang through the tangled undergrowth we call a garden, followed immediately by a dainty curse from my wife. She was no longer holding the nail. It was wonderful to watch that house growing inch by inch, rising majestically into the sky. Occasionally, when the sides would fall in on me, I thought of the pioneers who had heaved themselves a hundred miles out of the wilderness. I wondered how many had ever heaved a dog house.

It was an exciting moment, I can tell you, when I placed the roof on the sides and found that it came within four or five inches of fitting. It was a lot closer than I had hoped. It was a lot closer than the neighbors clustered around the thing. "If you will all hold your praise for a moment," I said modestly, stopping the meat delivery man from some incoherent utterance. "I will introduce the dog to his new mansion."

"So that's what it is," the meat man said. I then went into the house. The dog snarled at me as I approached his Morris chair, as usual, but I coaxed him outside with a side of beef. As we came around the corner from the front door the dog house loomed into view. It was tilted at a rakish angle, but still gamely standing. The dog stopped in his tracks. The hair on the back of his neck went up. With a low cry he sprang into the air and disappeared around the corner of the house, heading in a southerly direction and apparently jet-propelled.

Well, if he should read this, I am asking him to please come home. A is forgiven. Rex Thero will be a light burning in the dog-house door, boy—as soon as I cut a door in it. (Copyright, Vancouver Sun)

THE DOG HOUSE

Carpentry is not my long suit. I stanmer with a hammer, I'm raw with a saw, a fizzle with a chisel.

I am confessing this so my dog, who reads the paper regularly, digesting every little bit of it, and sometimes part of the carrier boy, will realize why his future home is a chamber of canine horror.

I have just built a dog house. When I last saw it, hiding behind the woodshed out of sight of the SPCA, it was still standing. My dog was still missing.

"I started innocently enough. 'Why not build a nice house for the dog?' suggested my wife in that kindly tone she reserves for mental misdeeds and an official I suppose I could have got out of it. But the idea interested me. If I built a dog house, I thought with brilliant logic, maybe the dog would get up and let ME sit in the Morris chair near the fire."

QUINTUPLETS A BOVINE RARITY

Dr. L. J. Smith may never become as famous as Canada's famous late Dr. Dufco, even though both participated in births of almost equal rarity. With Dr. Smith, however, the quintuplet births occurred in the bovine world. He is shown with the big five Nebraska quintuplet calves born Nov. 20, 1945, on the farm of Leo Schmold, Fairbury, Neb. This is the second case of quint calves recorded in the world and the first in the U.S. They are the only ones to live more than eight days. They caused so much commotion that farmer Schmold claimed the public was upsetting his farm and sold the quint calves to Dr. Smith, who is credited with saving their lives. The names of the calves are: L. to R., Russia, England, China, France, and the United States. Dr. Smith is shown with them.

AGRICULTURAL BODY UNITED SAYS STIRLING

Local M.P. Tells House Federation for Farmers of Canada Collectively

Hon. George Stirling, M.P. (Yukon) told the House of Commons last week that the Canadian Federation of Agriculture speaks with no sectional voice in Canada but that the organization, with branches in eight of the nine provinces in the Dominion, speaks for the farmers collectively. Delegates assemble in Ottawa and in an open meeting, put forth their views. The views of the Federation are hammered out so that it is feasible for the Canadian Federation of Agriculture to meet the Dominion government and set forth the policies which it advocates, he said.

The local M.P., cited as an example the apple industry, and how the farmers of the province are able to acquire agricultural products designated by the governor in council, deliver them, store them, and besides that, set the price which the farmer will receive for those products.

"That method of arriving at the object of the bill carries with it a principle with which we are not in accord. My mind goes back to the discussions which took place in this house in 1934 on the natural products marketing bill, when the Prime Minister (Mr. Mackenzie King) fulminated violently against that bill from its first section to its last, and the Minister of Justice (Mr. Flaxey) expressed his strong opposition to its terms despite the fact that the farmers in the Annapolis valley had unanimously indicated their support of the measure.

"I wonder, Mr. Speaker, what the situation would have been if that bill had contained these wide powers? Is it surprising that the hon. member for Quebec South (Mr. Power) years for the day when the Liberal party may return to those principles which he alleges they once followed?"

"I say that we are not in accord with the principle involved in this bill. We do not consider it right that the farmer who produces the product should have to pay in it, in the price he shall receive for it, and in that regard we are on all fours with the representatives made by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture—a fortnight ago.

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture met the government in the early hours of the day on which the minister moved the resolution which resulted in the introduction of this bill. The view of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture is that the proper basis on which to proceed in such a matter as this is a recognition of those boards at present in existence or to come into existence under the marketing act which have been passed in every province.

No Sectional Voice

"I want to point out to hon. members that the Canadian Federation of Agriculture speaks with no sectional voice in Canada. It neither speaks with the voice of one part of Canada nor speaks with the voice of farmers producing any one particular product. It is the collective voice of the farmers. There are branches of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture in eight of the nine provinces. These branches meet annually and discuss their problems. They arrive at policies. Their delegates assemble here in the city of Ottawa and in open meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture they put forward their views, and the views of the federation are then hammered out, so that it is feasible for the Canadian Federation of Agriculture to meet the Dominion government and set forth the policies which it advocates.

"The main reason why I am so strongly in favor of recognition of the boards at present in existence under the provincial marketing acts is that they are producer boards. The basis of these acts is just this, that in any stipulated area, if there be a majority of producers of certain commodities who desire to form themselves into a board, they may receive permission to do so. They elect their board, and that board carries out the control and the regulating of the marketing of those crops in an orderly fashion for the benefit of the producer, the benefit of the consumer, and the benefit of the trade, and it is only reasonable to my mind in a matter of this kind that the government should recognize the fact that such boards are in existence and that they are efficient. The minister himself has had opportunities of working with at least some of these boards.

"I would draw attention by way of illustration to two things which have happened since the war began. When the war broke out, shipping disappeared so far as commercial produce was concerned. That was an extremely serious matter for the province of Nova Scotia because their habit for generations has been to barrel their apples and to send them across the seas to the United Kingdom, to Scandinavian countries, to Newfoundland, Iceland, and the West Indies. It was not such a serious matter for the apple producers in British Columbia, because for some years past from twenty-five to thirty per cent of their product had been sold in the export market, but it was sufficiently serious to deal a blow to that industry in British Columbia.

Valley Resident

The only reason I am using the apple as an illustration is that I come from the centre of the Okanagan valley and I personally am more conversant with the conditions of the British Columbia fruit trade than I am with those of the other boards which exist in that province. I would not like it to be thought, as has been alleged in times past, that the whole strength of the movement of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture is based on the fruit industry, for that is very far from true. The fruit industry is merely one of those bodies which support the Canadian Federation of Agriculture both in its provincial branches and in the federation itself.

"When that export was entirely cut off, the federal government saw fit to make financial arrangements under which the farmers might be enabled to remain on their farms and to produce this food. That was a very considerable assistance in Nova Scotia. The method adopted was largely that of forming the apples over to the processors.

"In British Columbia it was necessary to a far lesser degree to make use of that financial assistance because the province developed and its employment increased consequent spread of industry for the war effort, the domestic market reached such proportions that it was possible for the British Columbia fruit board to sell practically all its produce in the domestic market. But in that instance it is interesting to note that when the Dominion government, having set up this financial arrangement, required some body of people to deal with it at the other end, it was to these fruit boards that they turned, and they made use of them in applying this financial arrangement.

"May I give an illustration. Not long ago when shipping was again possible the United Kingdom indicated that it desired to purchase Canadian apples. The question arose as to where these apples could be obtained, in what quantity and what the price should be. The hon. member for British Columbia was directed to the two boards, the one in Nova Scotia and the one in British Columbia. He went to see the Nova Scotia board and the British Columbia board and carried out a rather ordinary method of trade with the one and the other as to quantity and the price that should be paid. Barrels of apples in Nova Scotia and boxes of apples in British Columbia were converted into barrels, turned out to be at very much the same price, and that price was the one which was adopted in the agreement with the United Kingdom.

"Therefore in these two matters the minister is not without knowledge and experience of what these boards are capable of doing. I would suggest that he appreciates the assistance which those boards were able to afford in time of need.

Moves Amendment

"We are not in accord with the principle behind this bill, because we believe that there should be recognition by the government of the existing boards, and it should be so stated in the bill. I intend to make that the subject of an amendment which I propose to move. I am a hon. member for Brant (Mr. Charlton), and which I shall now read. It is as follows: "That the said bill be not now read the second time, but that it be resolved that an Agricultural Products Act should be based on the principle that producer boards, set up under provincial marketing acts, which such boards exist or of bread is better than a whole loaf if you cannot get the whole loaf, it scarcely comports with what the minister is stated to have said to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture when they met the government. I read these few words from the report got out by the Canadian Federation of Agriculture on what took place during the discussion with the cabinet. Minister of Agriculture, announced that he was introducing into the commons, an act which would carry on the powers and functions of various marketing boards which had been functioning during the war and up to the present. He indicated also that the act would convey powers which would make it possible for the government to meet part of the wishes of the delegation with respect to federal marketing legislation. However, he stated the act would only be in force for one year, to be re-enacted again at that time if desired.

"When we see the restrictions contained in the amendment, in that they refer to apples only and that they cover export trade as well as inter-provincial trade, it leaves us with the doubt which we must carry in our minds until we reach the committee stage of the bill and can discuss them at greater length. "I therefore sum up in this way. Mr. Speaker, We quite realize that it is necessary for the government to obtain the commodities required for certain international agreements which they have arrived at, but we contend that before the disposition of the farmers' produce should be made, and particularly before the price is arbitrarily set by the minister, the farmers should have an opportunity of indicating their wishes with respect to what they have produced and the price at which they are able to sell it."

"As the minister drew to the end of his remarks I asked him the following questions as reported on page 954 of Hansard: "Did I understand the minister to say that the existing boards will be empowered only to carry out transactions connected with agreements which the government has entered into with other countries, or will this bill enable the boards to carry out other undertakings which they have taken on with regard to shipments out of one province into another province?"

"Mr. Gardiner: The bill will cover inter-provincial and international shipments."

"Mr. Stirling: Not only connected with the agreement?"

"Mr. Gardiner: Not only connected with the agreement. It does provide authority to deal with inter-provincial transactions."

"When we received the bill and were able to read it we could find nothing in it which warranted the minister in giving these answers; and in consequence the president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, with three of his colleagues, called on the minister and asked him to be good enough to explain what the answers to me meant. On that occasion he told them that he had certain amendments in contemplation which he

In the reports for 1946, the affairs of the Boy Scout movement revealed a renewed vigor and a fresh interest on the part of youth for the Cub and Scout programs. Membership was reported on the gain. A number of new districts have been formed and more are in the process of organization. As these are completed, more groups throughout British Columbia will come under the recognized plan of Scout decentralization.

Major-General D. C. Spry, C.B.E., D.S.O., chief executive commissioner for Canada of the Boy Scouts Association, on his initial visit to British Columbia since his appointment last September, was the special guest and speaker. The chief commissioner outlined some of the plans under way to strengthen and extend scouting throughout Canada, in keeping with the desire of youth for many more units.

War Measures Act "He indicated that it would still be possible for the existing boards to carry on under the powers granted by the order in council under the War Measures Act, in the regulatory work which they had been doing outside the provinces in recognition by the government of the existing boards, and it should be so stated in the bill. "We are certainly worse off than before," remarked Alderman O. L. Jones. "The Kelowna picture speaks for itself," he said, referring to the increase in educational costs all throughout the province.

Something OR Nothing

Remember the story of the monkey who tried to withdraw a fistful of nuts through the narrow neck of a jar? Because he wasn't content with getting one luscious nut at a time, he ended up by getting nothing instead of something. That story is worth remembering today. Greedy grabbing of goods still in short supply can have the same result—nothing instead of something. Inflated prices, like the inflated paw of the monkey, can as surely prevent each of us from getting his fair share of available goods. Canadians have had the wisdom to be content with a moderate "something," knowing that as production increases that "something" will grow larger and larger. This is good sense, and is founded on the principle that MODERATION is the key to CONTINUED ENJOYMENT, a principle to which the House of Seagram has always subscribed.

GARBAGE COLLECTION

quently spilled on to the street by dogs and children before they can be serviced.

That charges made to certain classifications do not provide for maximum and minimum rates regardless of size of business.

That rates of offices are not in proper relation to service rendered.

That no provision exists for those establishments who have no garbage or ashes.

"When the garbage bylaw was put into effect at the beginning of the year, it was with the knowledge that certain alterations might have to be made," declared Alderman Walrod.

"The most important thing was to get a service into effect which would prevent unsightly accumulations of garbage in both residential and business districts of the city. While both equipment and staff were being used to the fullest advantage, good civic housekeeping and the regular removal of fire and health hazards became increasingly difficult during the late years of rapid city growth.

"By purchasing more modern equipment and by dividing the residential area into zones, the Council was able to institute the objective of weekly service. Garbage cans were required to be placed on the street lines by residents living on streets where no lanes existed on each day of collection. As about six dwellings can be serviced from lanes to every one where the garbage department must carry refuse to the streets, it was necessary that this must be done to allow the weekly schedule to be maintained with one truck. The former truck was then left free to properly service the retail and industrial areas, where daily or bi-weekly pick up was indicated.

"It was decided that the larger part of the cost of this greatly improved service to the retail area should be borne by the businesses served. While in many cases the charges set might not be relative to the volume of refuse collected, it is to the interest of all establishments that the district be so serviced and each therefore should share the cost.

"The proposed amendment provides that by making applications at the city office, a householder living on a street not served by a lane, may receive extended garbage service. This service will transfer the garbage to the street line and return the empty containers. A charge of 25c per month to defray cost of additional labor will be made to such an applicant.

"It also provides a revised schedule for groceries, bakeries, restaurants, and hotels, where rates applied are based on floor area. Differential rates apply to suburban residential zones. Office rates are reduced from $2.50 to 50c per month where the office is a place of business. All other rates remain the same as in the original bylaw.

Sign Waiver

"A further clause permits any business which claims to have no garbage, to sign a waiver of all service and no charge will be made. The premises of such a business will be inspected weekly by both the sanitary inspector and fire marshal, and if accumulations of garbage are reported by either official, this business will automatically accept the service and the rate applied.

"The garbage department is anxious to co-operate with the citizens of Kelowna to make this a tidy city. When they come around for the spring clean-up, people are urged to see that they have complied with the regulations in having two proper garbage cans, and that ashes are placed in one of them. Difficulty is encountered in the city incinerator when ashes are mixed with combustible material. Residents should also make sure cans have lids on them to keep flies and the rain out."

tees, and to discuss the regional planning brief being prepared for submission to the Bureau of Reconstruction, in Victoria.

Planning of unorganized territories in Vernon, Kelowna and Princeton areas was discussed at some length, and sub-committees were set up to report on proposed regulations.

The importance of establishing additional wind gauges in various parts of the region was brought up, and the executive committee was instructed to report back to the main committee. Locations in the Similkameen and the South Okanagan were considered.

Charles Nichols reported on arrangements for the establishment of a box mill in the Princeton area, outlining certain difficulties in completing arrangements for power. Several operations in that area require power and present facilities are inadequate. Considerable discussion on the importance of the power commission entering the Princeton area ensued, and a resolution bringing this to the attention of the Bureau of Reconstruction was passed. In this connection the resolution of the Rutland community committee, urging the commission to consider taking over the servicing of the area was considered and was passed to the Bureau after several had spoken in favor of the resolution, emphasizing the need for additional facilities.

The submission of Kelowna Board of Trade, with regard to Buckland Park was given consideration. It was decided to set up a committee to consider parks and playgrounds in the region. Buckland Park takes in the area from the Westside ferry wharf, north to the mouth of Bear (Lambly) Creek, extending west to the region of Bear Lake, comprising some 11,000 acres. A smaller park in the Princeton area is also under consideration.

John Laursen, of Armstrong, asked the committee to assist a committee which he represented in regard to the irrigation of the Grandview Flats area. He reported that he had already interviewed the minister of lands and presented a copy of his committee's submission. The advisory committee agreed to the importance of the project and assured Mr. Laursen of any necessary assistance.

J. T. Gawthrop, secretary of the bureau, was in attendance from Victoria. He informed the meeting of the formation of the Community Planning Association of Canada, with headquarters at Ottawa. Stressing the need of community planning generally throughout the province and the whole dominion, reference was made to the statement of the dominion chairman, Major General H. A. Young, who said recently, "the interested citizen should be able to see how his own action is essential to gain a better environment for his family, his neighborhood and his community." It is a self-governing body to foster public understanding of, and participation in community planning in Canada. It is open to anyone interested to join.

CAR ACCIDENT BRINGS FINE

Charles L. Reynolds, Rutland, appearing in city police court Wednesday, after a remand on eight days, was convicted on a charge of dangerous driving and was fined $50 or 15 days.

Last week he was fined $10 for failing to report an accident where damage was in excess of $25, while, at the same time, a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident was dismissed on a technicality. The charges arose from an accident in front of the Mayfair Hotel on March 2, where a truck crashed into a parked car, causing damage estimated at $300.

SCHOOL GRANT WILL BENEFIT CITY COFFERS

City Council was informed Monday night that the Kelowna School District No. 23 had received word from the Department of Education, which indicated the provincial government proposes to implement the Goldenberg report at the present session of the Legislature.

The department stated the increase in the basic grant for the nine month period between April 1 and December 31, was estimated at $13,770. This money has been apportioned as follows:

Rural area, 40 per cent, $5,747.30; Kelowna, 40 per cent, $5,334.20; Glenora, two per cent, $275.40; Peachland, $413.10.

"In accordance with instructions received from the department, the school levy will be reduced in such instances by an estimated amount as indicated, and you are therefore requested to reduce our original requisition by the appropriate figure," the letter from the school district secretary stated.

STUDENTS SEE INDIAN WORK AT BENVOLIN

BENVOLIN—The pupils of Division II, Mission Creek School, were fortunate in having a visitor last Monday, Mrs. O. Jackson, who displayed an Indian costume made by her husband.

On the following Friday, the girls of Division II visited her home to see her spinning wheel in operation. Mrs. Jackson showed the girls pieces of handwork such as models of ships and stage-coaches, bead-work and Indian fancy work.

A meeting of the Mission Creek Water Users organization was held at the School last Friday evening. The general purpose of the meeting was to elect a chairman and board to act in the interest of the farmers for the season. N. H. McKinnon was elected chairman and W. Hamill secretary. The three board members will be Mr. Dumbleton, Mr. M. Culos and Mr. John Perchold.

DELICATESSEN WANTS TO STAY OPEN LONGER

Request from the Kelowna Delicatessen shop to stay open longer than hours permitted by the Shops Regulations Act, was referred to the retail merchants' section of the Kelowna Board of Trade at last Monday night's Council meeting.

It was pointed out that the type of goods sold are perishable commodities. Council took a sympathetic view, one Alderman stating that delicatessen shops in Vancouver are open until late in the evening.

A juvenile boy from Vernon was fined $10 and put on probation for one year when he appeared in juvenile court here, March 19, for being intoxicated in a public place.

Far riding his bicycle at night without a light, Jules Armeaneau was fined $2.50 and costs, in city police court, March 19.

ASTERS AIDED BY SCIENCE

Double Asters are again easy to grow.

Asters are rapidly regaining their popularity with home gardeners. Once they were among the leaders, as garden and exhibition flowers, a place which they well deserved because of their size, beauty of form and variety of vivid colors.

First a wilt, then a disease known as "aster yellows" began to spread among them, the disease being spread by leaf hoppers, insects which were difficult to control.

But, of these headlamps, have come the latest scientific advances. Asters of the "double" type do not do an amazingly efficient job, so that by planting the young aster plants regularly until they begin to bloom, the insects, and the infection they carry, can be kept away.

Asters grow so slowly, they usually are given the benefit of an early start in a seed box, in order to get earlier flowers. But florists have found that stronger plants are grown if the seed are sown directly in the garden, and excess plants thinned out, so growth is not checked by transplanting. Flowers, of course, come later than with plants started under protection, but not as much later as might be supposed.

If you start your own aster seed, in the house, or in a hot-bed or greenhouse, special precautions should be taken. It will pay to disinfect the seed, using one of the new chemicals for that purpose which are easily obtained and applied. If in doubt, come later than with plants started under protection, but not as much later as might be supposed.

DON'T BURY SEEDS IN SOIL; STUDY RIGHT SOWING DEPTHS

For large seeds, make drill an inch deep with the corner of a hoe.

Use Hoe Handle to Make Drill For Medium Size Seeds. For Shallow Drill for Tiny Seeds Press Edge of Board Into Soil.

Many failures with seeds are caused by sowing them too deep. Even experienced gardeners may do this. But it is not necessary to measure exactly the depth that seeds are placed in the open garden; they are not that particular.

The rule so often quoted, that the depth of sowing should be four times the diameter of the seeds, is best discarded; since on small seeds such accuracy of measurement would be impractical, and large seeds, like peas and beans, are covered more than four times their diameter.

In light sandy soil, seeds can be placed more deeply than in heavy soil, containing lots of clay. The average gardener dealing with flower and vegetable seeds will get along quite well if he uses three kinds of drill, one for large seeds an inch or two deep, depending on the soil, and made by using the corner of a hoe; one for medium sized, which will be made with the hoe handle and one for tiny flower seeds, which is best made by merely pressing the edge of a board into the ground.

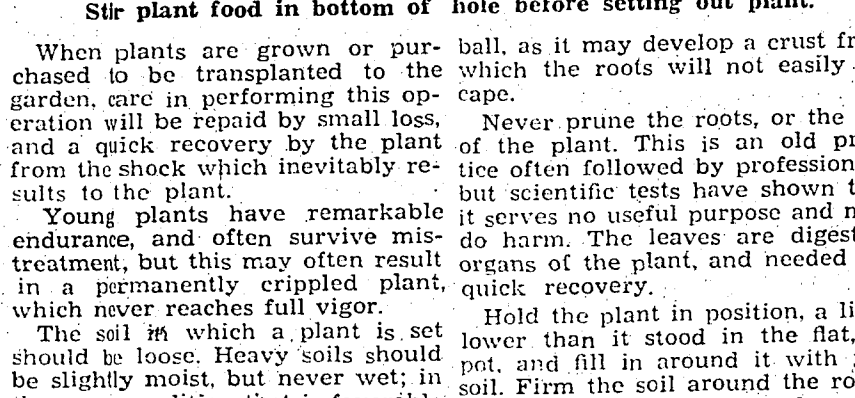

Beginners should be told that a drill, in gardens, is the shallow trench in which row crops are sown. And it is vital that drills be straight, and parallel to each other. Wiggly drills, running at angles to each other, not only stamp the gardener as careless, but they double the work of cultivating the garden.

The entire garden should be outlined so that the rows can be squared with the boundaries. Then place stakes for the first row, and stretch a line between them.

Some gardeners use a straight, narrow board as a ruler to make the row straight. A garden line is likely to be more convenient; heavy lines wound on iron reels are handy, but any strong cord stretched between two stakes will do.

For small seeds such as radishes, onions, carrots, lettuce, and endive, a drill half an inch deep is enough. A little deeper for beets and Swiss chard, and an inch for peas, beans and sweet corn will be sufficient. Make drills a little deeper when hot weather comes.

Save garden plants from shock by using these new methods

Stir plant food in bottom of hole before setting out plant.

When plants are grown or purchased to be transplanted to the garden, care in performing this operation will be repaid by small loss and a quick recovery by the plant from the shock which inevitably results to the plant.

Young plants have remarkable endurance, and often survive mistreatment, but this may often result in a permanently crippled plant, which never reaches full vigor.

The soil in which a plant is set should be loose. Heavy soils should be slightly moist, but never wet; in the same condition that is favorable for sprouting.

Plants should be soaked the day before they are to be moved and transferred from flat, or pot, to the garden in the quickest time possible. If you are growing them, carry the flat to the garden.

Dig a hole of ample size to hold the roots and make sure that the soil you remove is crumbly. Throw a tablespoonful of balanced plant food in the bottom of the hole and mix it with the soil. Then cover it with fresh soil.

Now lifting the plant from the flat, disturbing the roots as little as possible. Above all, do not compact the soil about them into a moist ball, as it may develop a crust from which the roots will not easily escape.

Never prune the roots, or the top of the plant. This is an old practice often followed by professionals, but scientific tests have shown that it serves no useful purpose and may do harm. The leaves are digestive organs of the plant, and needed for quick recovery.

Hold the plant in position, a little lower than it stood in the flat, or pot, and fill in around it with fine soil. Firm the soil around the roots before filling the hole, pour in half a cup of water out of a bucket in which fertilizer has been stirred to make a "starter solution." This serves as a stimulant which helps the plant recover quickly and resume growth.

To make a starter solution special soluble fertilizers may be used, according to directions. Lacking them, use your regular balanced plant food, stirring in one tablespoonful per gallon of water.

When the water is poured into the hole after the soil is packed around the plant, it helps pack the soil around the roots, establishing the firm contact which is desirable.

SWEET PEAS FIRST FLOWERS TO SOW IN SPRING GARDEN

Spring flowering type of sweet pea.

In most parts of Canada, where spring comes late and its stay is brief, growing sweet peas is a hardy and hot weather. The gardener who would win should sow seeds early, and grow a heat resistant strain, which will bloom quickly and give him an abundance of flowers before midsummer, with its scorching heat.

A sweet pea which prefers heat is yet to be bred, but a heat resistant strain, of the giant, wavy-petalled type known as the "spring flowering" strain is becoming popular. Many compare it in abundance of bloom and long flowering season with the old-fashioned grandiflora type, which used to be one of the most popular flowers in this country.

When the Spencer sweet peas were developed, which flowered a month to six weeks earlier than the late Spencer, but had fewer flowers, and bore them in sprays of three. These are widely used by florists for winter flower-ling.

The spring flowering strain blooms in between the early and late Spencers, but has four flowers to a cluster, and much more abundant bloom than the earliest varieties. Its ability to withstand hot weather is outstanding, being developed by careful breeding.

All sweet peas can be started indoors and transplanted to the garden; and in cold-winter sections the late Spencers should always be planted so for good results.

If sown direct in the garden, then all types should be planted just as soon as the ground can be prepared. The soil should be spaded one to two feet deep, preferably in the previous fall. Sweet peas demand rich feeding. At least a pint of balanced plant food should be spaded into the soil for each 25 foot row.

The old practice of sowing the seed at the bottom of a trench, several inches deep and filling in with soil as the plants grow, is going out of favor. The trenches often fill with water, and disease is encouraged. If the soil is spaded deeply, the seeds may be planted an inch or two deep, and the roots will go down far enough.

Sweet peas are legumes, and secrete nitrogen from the air. They benefit if the seed are inoculated with a bacterial culture sold for that purpose. The vines should have something to climb as soon as they reach a height of six inches.

the functional. Instead of planting to create landscape pictures of traditional styles, we will arrange our gardens to serve definite purposes first, and develop picturesque qualities which will not interfere with these functions.

Just what are the functions of a small home garden? Most general agreement is likely to be that it serve as an outdoor home, where we can get fresh air and sunshine and such recreational activities as may appeal to us. This is not new; since World War I the idea of the garden as an "outdoor living room" has spread. But here, as in house architecture, tradition has given way slowly; there has been a conflict between the desire for a useful garden, and one that will look like others, especially those we see in magazines.

So a large proportion of all small home grounds planted twenty years or more ago are now overgrown with trees and shrubs—planted for traditional reasons—that sunshine is excluded from both house and grounds, and flowers—perhaps even grass—cannot be well grown because of too much shade.

While all this shade was developing, sunshine was rising so rapidly in our esteem that we are sometimes accused of being sun worshippers. But there are sound scientific reasons for valuing sunshine, which has been proved to be a vital necessity for human well being. For once, fashion, art and science, are working to the same purpose, to increase the amount of sunshine, and sunny environment, available to us. Millions are migrating to those sections of the country which enjoy the most sunshine. In less favored places we must design our clothes, houses, gardens and decorations to make the most of all the sunshine we possess.

Garden design is following this trend. Post-war gardens will not be without shade, for nothing can be pleasanter than the shade of a tree to one who has been exposed to the warm rays of the summer sun; but they will confine shade to definitely planned areas, where one may rest and view a garden drenched in sunshine.

Such gardens can develop a variety of floral beauty which is impossible in overplanted grounds, where the roots of trees and shrubs fill the soil and their leaves shut out the sunshine over the entire area.

In sunny garden areas many activities can be enjoyed, but none is likely to be more popular and rewarding than gardening itself, the growing of fine plants, either for food or flowers, which millions have learned to enjoy during the years of war gardening.

BOY SCOUT HEADS MEET AT PENTICTON

Conference Draws Scouts from Various Parts of the Okanagan

DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Next Year's Convention Will Be Held at Rutland, Delegates Decide

The annual Boy Scout patrol leaders' conference for the Okanagan was held in Penticton recently. Among the 50 members attending were delegates from Vernon, Rutland, Kelowna, Summerland, Oliver and Penticton.

Officials attending the conference included District Commissioner J. H. Mitchell, Oliver; District Commissioner Weddell from Kelowna; Scoutmasters George Yochim, of Kelowna; A. W. Gray, of Rutland; G. Blewett of Summerland and C. McNaughton from Oliver.

The prime purpose of the conference was to discuss the problems and activities of the various patrols in the valley. A successful open forum was held when problems and suggestions were aired.

After a flag raising ceremony, Reeve Robert Lyon welcomed the delegates to the convention. District Commissioner Mitchell officially opened the conference. Apart from these moves by the officials, the patrol leaders handled the whole convention by themselves.

Demonstrations of various campfire procedures were presented by four of the delegates.

Matters discussed at the forum were juvenile delinquency, patrol finances, competitions, uniforms, esprit de corps in patrols, and systems of awarding credits for inspections.

It was decided at the conference that the next year's convention would be held at Rutland. In the evening a banquet for the delegates was held in the school cafeteria. Commissioner Mitchell said the meeting was the most successful he has attended, commending the manner with which the proceedings had been carried out by the Scouts.

The entertainment at the supper was supplied by the Scouts in the form of skits. Alice Leander furnished music during the banquet. Finally to the convention was a church parade.

PAINTINGS WILL BE EXHIBITED BY ART GROUP

Members of the Kelowna District Art Group met at Cadder House on Wednesday night, some doing figure drawing and others devoting time to still life. Edric Oswald read a paper on "Painting in Europe from the Renaissance to the Present Day," illustrated by excellent slides from U.B.C. Afternoon and evening classes were arranged to be conducted by Miss Jessie Topham Brown, of Vernon, who will teach in Kelowna from April 7-12th.

Plans were made for a private showing on Wednesday, April 9, of a special exhibition of paintings by Interior B.C. and Vancouver Island artists, to be held at Cadder House. It is planned to show "West Wind" the color film of Tom Thomson at the same time. A Federation of Canadian Artists' jury in Vancouver chose paintings by Mrs. E. O. Middleton, of East Kelowna, Miss Nellie Duggan, and Edric Oswald, to represent Kelowna in this exhibition. Mr. Rufus Williams, the club president, set two contests for club members: to design a letterhead, and to do a picture representing "Spring."

Newcomers who were welcomed to the group were Sydney Kelley and Clara Atkinson. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, March 26, at 7:45 p.m., when the evening will be devoted to painting and drawing.

MRS. D. AVISON GIVES ADDRESS ON U.N.R.R.A.
Over 50 Women Attend Meeting of First United Women's Federation
About 50 ladies of the Women's Federation of the First United Church met in the church parlor on Thursday afternoon. In the absence of Mrs. S. M. Simpson, holidaying in California, Mrs. T. F. McWilliams took the chair. Miss Dorothy Burnett, of the Janet Coates Circle, was in charge of the devotion. Miss Truda Hayes was the pianist and Mrs. Wilf Rueger, the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. H. L. Glenn. Mrs. A. H. DeConti recited "The Kingdom of God" and "Dedication." After a business meeting, tea was served by the Pendozi Street Circle.

Mrs. Douglas Avison, guest speaker, used "UNRRA" as the title of her talk; and told how UNRRA in China has worked in the closest co-operation with the Chinese National Relief Administration. With them they decide the allocation of the goods and see that they get to the proper destination with as little spoilage as possible.

These supplies come from the United States Army surplus goods, she said.

In quoting from Dr. Avison's letters, citing the international aspect of UNRRA, she said that in the case of the Fong Pin Chinese hospital in Canton where there were 1,200 patients in 1,000 beds, UNRRA had done a great deal to clean up the place, and put in a Czechoslovakian pediatrician and a Norwegian surgeon. Dr. Borchich, an Austrian, is in charge of the UNRRA medical work in Shanghai.

Though UNRRA is now winding up, relief and rehabilitation work will go on, if we all live as citizens of one world, and active members of one community," Mrs. Avison concluded.

MRS. McWILLIAMS GUEST SPEAKER C.G.I.T. MEETINGS
During the past few weeks, Mrs. T. F. McWilliams has conducted several Affiliation Services of C.G.I.T. girls with the Women's Missionary Society.

In Armstrong, after the affiliation ceremony held in the United Church, where Mrs. McWilliams was as guest, a group of C.G.I.T. girls, Mrs. McWilliams gave a talk, using material which had been incorporated in the address given by Mrs. Rex Eaton and Miss Alice Keenleyside in New York where they represented Canada at the International Assembly of Women, last fall. Women from 54 nations had attended this convention.

Mrs. McWilliams has also performed the affiliation ceremony in the United Church halls of Penticton and Merritt. At a Mother and Daughter banquet in Merritt, she gave the address of the evening, using the title "A Way of Living."

WINFIELD WOMAN EXPLAINS NEW GARDEN METHODS

Mrs. Nelson Arnold and son, Donald, of Winfield, have returned after spending a holiday in Miami, Florida.

One of the most interesting experiences that Mrs. Nelson had was visiting the hydroponic gardens in Miami, the vegetable market garden, where vegetables, planted in tanks of gravel, are fed by commercial fertilizers, specially required by different plants, such as corn, tomatoes, lettuce, beans, cukes, etc. Half an acre of tanks produced the same amount of vegetables as five acres of soil. On one tomato plant, where only one blossom had set, one small branch had 13 tomatoes.

MOVIE PATRONS GET SHOE-SHINE FROM HI-YERS

Theatre-goers are probably still wondering what struck them last Thursday when about 20 teen-age girls trooped down the street and watched two of their members render boot-blacking service to movie patrons waiting in the line-up on Bernard Avenue.

It proved to be the initiation exercises of the president and vice-president of the Hi-Y club of the Y.W.C.A., a newly-formed organization in the Kelowna High School. Valerie James is president, and Morva Paige, vice-president. On Friday, the initiation exercises continued when members held a costume party in the high school, which was followed by a home-cooking auction. The teen-agers raised around $12.50 as a result of the auction, while 40 cents was relayed from the shoe-shine undertaking.

SCIENCE has proved there are certain food elements everyone needs for health. If there aren't enough of them in a child's food, serious things can happen—such as stunted growth, soft bones, poor teeth, faulty nerves, loss of appetite, defective eyesight.

Ovaltine supplements the diet with elements frequently deficient in ordinary foods. Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of Vitamins A, B₁, C, D, Riboflavin (B₂), and Niacin and Minerals Calcium, Phosphorus and Iron.

In addition it provides the basic food substances—complete proteins to build muscle, nerve and body cells—high-energy foods for vitality and endurance. It thus acts as an insurance against food deficiencies that retard normal growth.

So if your child eats poorly, is thin, underperforms, perhaps nervous, why not try delicious Ovaltine for normal growth and better appetite.

MAY BROADEN LOCAL ALUMNI MEMBERSHIP

Many Members Favor Forming Organization to Include All Varsity Students

The Kelowna Branch of the U.B.C. Alumni met on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. A. P. Pettipiece. The sixteen members present discussed the constitution of the central alumni group which was adopted with amendments to fit local needs, in line with that passed by the Summerland Alumni Association.

The possibility of broadening the basis of membership to include alumni of other universities, thus forming a University Club, was discussed. In the meantime, such alumni will be welcome guests at all meetings. Bob Knox, chairman of the membership committee, reported progress in contacting former graduates of U.B.C.

President Les Wilson declared that efforts which are at present being sponsored by other groups to provide a scholarship or loan fund for deserving Kelowna students desiring to attend U.B.C. should receive active support of the association.

It was felt that with the tremendous growth in the University during the past few years and with the many needs pressing for attention, an active alumni could help greatly.

Some thought the splendid work of the Summerland Alumni group in providing a scholarship fund would set a pattern for the local project.

A homecoming for students when they return to Kelowna from Vancouver was planned.

VALLEY SCHOOL TEACHERS MEET

The Kelowna district branch of the Okanagan Valley Teachers' Association held a dinner meeting at the Royal Anne on Wednesday, with Ed Flower in the chair.

Vital consideration was given to the student assistance fund, a fund to be established for the use of deserving students who wish to further their education. Kelowna district teachers voted unanimously in favor of supporting this excellent project.

The Experts Say

By KAY REX

OTTAWA (CP) With thousands of starving people in the world today, it's important that food waste, whether at the hands of the producer or the consumer, be kept to an absolute minimum. Poor storage facilities have been given as reason for the greatest amount of waste.

Reports of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and the Emergency Economic Committee for Europe, indicate that insects, mites, rodents, bacteria, or mould fungi, destroy from three to 12 per cent of world's food, nearly one half the foodstuff entering world trade.

The amount of food lost in Canadian homes as a result of carelessness in handling and storage cannot be estimated, but home economists of the consumer section, agriculture department, say that much of this food lost by improper storage includes cereals.

Flour and uncooked cereals should be kept in tightly covered containers and stored in a cool, dry place. Ready-to-eat cereals will stay crisp if the original package is kept tightly covered.

Whole-grain flours and cereals, wheat germ and prepared mixes containing fat spoil more readily than other types of flour and cereals. They should be kept dark as well as cool and dry.

Methods which can increase retention of food values in stored crops will improve the nutritive quality of Canadian diets, reports the health and welfare department in its study on nutrition and the production and distribution of food. If at the same time physical waste through spoilage was reduced it could decrease the margin of production of these products, making such a study in this field of utmost importance.

At the present time the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ontario, is studying storage losses and method of retaining food values of fruits and vegetables. The high degree of seasonality in Canadian production of these products makes such a study in this field of utmost importance.

Baseball Club Executives Hold Parleys Over Week-End To Make Plans For Coming Ball Season

Committees Named to Take Care of Detail Work—Kelowna Red Sox to Enter International League—Second Team Will Depend on Financing, Practice Facilities and Sufficient Players—Choice of Coach Not Yet Made—Negotiations Under Way to Get Pitchers

THE eagerly-awaited announcement of policy for a top-flight year of baseball for the city came over the week-end after two Kelowna Baseball Club executive meetings, both of which lasted over three hours. General optimism marched hand in hand with spirited but cordial discussions of pros and cons all through the two long meetings that saw a large-scale program for financing presented by hard-working business manager Ian McKay and approved by the zealous executive. Setting out of committees to take care of the detailed work, and approving of strategic plans designed to give Kelowna the best possible brand of ball with the available material and means, were some of the things accomplished.

Following are the main points affected:

Named Red Sox

1. The team to be entered in the International League will be known as the Kelowna Red Sox. Whether a second team will come under the wing of the club will depend on many things—finances, playing and practice facilities and sufficient players.

Most of the executive favored a second team and sufficient playing material seems assured. But with only one ball park, used for many other activities, an acute problem of playing and practice time is posed. However, things point to another team to serve the purpose of a farm team, to play either in the Twilight League, or—but less likely—in the "B" League, similar to last year.

Finance

2. With just a bare balance left from last year, the problem of financing might not have been so hard if the executive had favored sponsors for the team. But they decided to go on their own hook even though gate receipts in the past have always been poor.

Publication of an informative booklet, within the framework allowed by K.A.R.T., was decided upon. Space will be sold to advertisers; other pages will include pictures of the players, league schedules and much useful information. This should take care of initial expenses.

Coach

3. Choice of a coach had not yet been made, but the selection has narrowed down to two outsiders. If negotiations for these two break down—officials declined to name them publicly—then a local man will get the job. Final decision is expected to be made this week.

Cousins' Battery Signed

4. Chances of a winning team this year were enhanced with the announcement the Cousins brothers had been signed up. Harold, moundman on the battery, has already moved to the city and is working here. Catcher Verne will remain at Peachland, and play in as many games as possible, McKay said.

Other pitchers with whom negotiations are under way include Jerry Whitney, Calgary; Lefty White, Vancouver; and Dave Zachard, now at Powell River. Still other names mentioned at the meetings as possible playing material and anxious to move to Kelowna include Reg Bentley, of the famous hockey brothers, Reg Thompson and Ken Ulyot, all with the New Westminster Royals in the Pacific Coast Hockey League this past season. Hank Tostenson, and some of the other boys attending Varsity will likely be here to try out for the squad too.

Committee

4. A finance committee of president Vic Franks, treasurer George Menzies and director Ed Scanland, was appointed. Menzies was relieved of secretarial duties at his own request, and Miss Hilda Weisbeck appointed in his place.

Eric Mitchell will head the grounds committee. Under his department will come contemplated repairs to the park and the dressing rooms.

5. Copies of bylaws will be made and each player will get one as he signs up.

Practices are set for Tuesday and Thursday weekly, with the opening one called for Thursday this week. Play in the International League begins on May 4. The league expects to release the schedule soon.

CITY JUNIOR CAGERS TAKE FIRST GAME

Defeat Kamloops 42-21 in First of Two-Game Total-Point Junior Hoop Final

With shooting sights adjusted for accurate firing at any range, the Kelowna City Junior Cagers had little trouble in taking the first of a two-game total-point series for the Interior junior basketball finals when they doubled the score, 42-21, against Kamloops at the Scout Hall, Thursday.

At half-time the score stood at a modest 13-7 in favor of the local boys. But in the second half the Pioneers got as hot as molten lava and letting go from all sides, they had it to a 21-point margin which they will carry into the second game at Kamloops this coming Wednesday.

Brian Weddell and Vic Welder were particularly sharp in the last half, Weddell scoring the small crowd with their rapid basket-bulging cagers. The whole team acted as if inspired, which may have been due to a worthwhile telegram sent to the hospital.

Three boosters in Vancouver—Hank Tostenson, Bert Saucier and George Bogress, wired: "We wish you the best of luck against Kamloops. We're sure you're headed for the B.C. championship. Looking forward to seeing you play in the finals at Vancouver."

Encouragement of that calibre was all the boys wanted. Now, they say, "we're as much as in." They never doubted it before, and the prospects of seeing the big city have been getting better every game.

FIRST PRACTICE

Opening practice for the Kelowna Red Sox is set for the ball park this coming Thursday at 6 p.m., the executive of the Kelowna Ball Club announced over the week-end.

All players anxious to make the team are asked to be on hand for the initial warm-up. If a coach is not named in time for the first practice, manager Ian McKay was authorized to take over temporary control.

The Red Sox, local entry in the Okanagan International League, is allowed to register 20 players this year. The surplus will likely be used on a second team the club has under consideration.

Varied Pro-Rec Program Is Well Received Here

Pro-Rec's 10th annual mass display at the Scout Hall Friday night may not have broken any records, but this year's show provided entertainment, thrills and educational value on a par with the best ever put on here.

Physically-minded boys and girls, men and women—there were 210 all told—on nearly all major centres in the Okanagan, combined to put on a grand-scale gymnastic exhibition before a large and eager crowd. Included in the array of talent were representatives from Salmon Arm, Enderby, Rutland, East Kelowna, Penticton, Kaledon, Glenmore and Kelowna.

For nearly three hours, the crowd was moved by the magnitude of the grand marches, the precision of the marching routine, the dare-devilry of the low and high box vaulters, the gracefulness of the dancers, the timing of the acrobats that showed months and even years of practice for development of accuracy.

Highlights of the 30-odd act program included juggling exhibitions by Murray Ramsay, of Salmon Arm, hand balancing with Gay MacDonald, of Penticton and two Kelowna men, Basil Jennings and Roy Richards, and a crowd-pleasing performance starring Gloria Sather, well-known contortionist, of Penticton, assisted by Bill Wilcox, Pro-Rec chief instructor.

Sword Dance
Little Reba Gagnon, of Kelowna, gained a good share of the plaudits for her sword dance with Sheila Henderson, of Glenmore. Later in the program she appeared again, this time with Mela Palmer, of Kaledon, in a nice show of acrobatics assisted by Wilcox and Albert Blando.

Spectators got a great bang out of the square dancing featuring dancers from five-year-olds and up. Eight young people from Glenmore gave a stirring display in the eight-some reel. The final act, the bronze statue, here again after an absence of many years, was performed by Augie Ciancone, Kelowna athlete, and Tina Senger, of Rutland. They drew the best hand of the night.

In the opening remarks, Aid. J. Horn welcomed the participants to Kelowna. "Recreational training," he said, "knows no boundaries nor does it make any distinction in creed or nationality."

Chief instructor Bill Wilcox said the proceeds to be gained from the show would be used to send a team from the Okanagan to compete in the provincial meet at the Coast this month. (See story elsewhere on this page.)

Largely responsible for keeping the patrons in a laughing mood all through the evening were the clowning antics of Bill Pavle and Leon Bowser, both of Kelowna, and both well-versed in gymnastics and crazy doings. Several other acts, including three boxing bouts, rounded out the show.

Pianists were: Mrs. M. Ostlund, Rutland; Mrs. I. B. Swift, Penticton; Mrs. S. Dobbin, Westbank, and Mrs. K. Dunaway, Kelowna.

PRO REC CASH RETURNS ARE DISAPPOINTING

Though Pro-Rec failed to net sufficient money from its mass display at the Scout Hall Friday night to send the six men to Vancouver to compete in the B.C. championships, chief instructor Bill Wilcox said afterwards, attempts would be made to send at least four of his best men to the Coast.

"We hoped for a full house," Bill said, "but as you could see, there was a good deal less than 500 paying patrons there." About $150 was grossed, according to Wilcox, and after expenses were deducted, there was not much left.

Many of the creditors for this display co-operated and gave generous cuts in their bills. Kinsmen cut their charges for the use of the hall by nearly 50 per cent. Others are expected to give reductions that will build up the net take.

Late in the week, Basil Jennings, Roy Richards and Albert Blando, all of Kelowna, and Murray Ramsay, of Salmon Arm, were named as the four who would carry the Okanagan colors into the B.C. meet at Vancouver. In five out of seven years, Valley competitors have won several provincial gymnastic championships, and local Pro-Rec instructors and Okanagan boosters are anxious for a repeat this year.

Barring unforeseen difficulties, the four will be leaving by train on Wednesday, said Wilcox.

ward to seeing you play in the finals at Vancouver."

Encouragement of that calibre was all the boys wanted. Now, they say, "we're as much as in." They never doubted it before, and the prospects of seeing the big city have been getting better every game.
